Native Life in Abyssinia.

The majority of houses have a second story, at least a sort of attic, under the extinguisher roof of thatch, rimming a circular frieze of wood cut or wood resting on the angles of four walls of rude and strong either in square, or the ground plan taking the shape of a Greek cross, and the interior is surrounded by a circular outer wall of the same material. Within these live tenants, with their cattle, fowls, dogs, cats, and a Noah's ark of insects, which the natives foster with the greatest care by not touching soap, and by using very little water. The excessive disregard to cleanliness is quite a mania with Abyssinians. It is not from a want of water. There is plenty; and the famous soap tree, called kotcha, grows everywhere, the seeds of which when carefully dried in the sun, may be worked into a good lather that is very cleansing. An Ethiopian will tell you without a blush that he is necessarily washed at birth, washes himself on his marriage morn, and hopes to be washed after death. But once every year he dips himself in the river on the Festival of St. John, and every morning he wets the end of his toga with the moisture from his mouth and freshens up his face. Whenever he feels hard and uncomfortable he will smack himself with mutton fat, till his head and body glisten in the sun.—From Frederick Villiers in The English Illustrated Magazine.

On Monday night one hundred disguised horsemen rode to Smithfield jail. Pistols were presented at the heads of the guards, who fled. The prisoners begged piteously for their lives. Davis protested that Smith had never falsely aggused him, and that he was not guilty. Not a word was said by the masked men. Smith and Davis were placed on horseback, each with a man behind him. The procession then formed with the negroes in the centre and they rode toward the Neuse river. When the bridge was reached, where the water is 20 feet deep, a halt was ordered and all dismounted. Statistics from a London Directory

The population of London is sheltered by 550,000 dwelling houses, and the area of streets and squares embraces 122 square miles. Every day sees an average of 160,000 strangers enter the city, and 1230 persons added to the population, while each year about twenty-eight miles of new streets are laid out, and 9,000 new houses erected. There are 129,000 paupers, upon whom 10,700 pounds are spent every day. The population includes 120,000 foreigners, more Roman Catholics than there are in Rome, and more Jews than there are in Palestine. Two hundred clergymen officiate over 620 churches and 423 chapels, of which latter buildings the Independents have 121, the Baptists 100, the Wesleyans 74, the Catholics 90, the Calvinists 10, the Presbyterians 10, the Quakers 7 and the Jews 10. The number of cats kept by the people is so large (700,000) that "cat's meat" is delivered to the most of houses. The 3,000 horses which die each week are utilized to meet this demand.

Glasgow's Commercial Importance.

Many readers will be surprised to learn that Glasgow is the second largest city in Great Britain, and the third in commercial importance. In population and manufactures it almost equals Philadelphia, and for wet weather surpasses any American city. Large or small, with which I am acquainted. The people are busy, thrifty, industrious and exceedingly polite, intensely national, but absolutely ignornant and indifferent about America and American affairs. I have not met one person so ignorant as the Italian Count who asked me whether it was not dangerous to venture outside of New York on account of the Indians, but they do not seem to know or care that in the vicinity of the noble city of Towson there is a populous and thriving village called Baltimore.

Glasgow is also the largest locomotive works in the world, and the shipbuilding yards extend along the Clyde twenty miles to Greenock, presenting a scene of ceaseless industry that astonishes even an American traveller. The Glasgow Cathedral is one of the most ancient and interesting churches in Great Britain. Th present structure was built in 1181 and is in excellent preservation. The University of Glasgow made it a prominent place,even when the population was quite small.—Baltimore Day Letter.

The Cow is Queen.

A few years ago many people stood ready to claim that cotton was King. Indeed there are many grasping slaves to-day who claim the same thing. Statistics are abundant by means of which this claim can be in part at least substantiated, but very few people seem desirous of claiming that King Cotton ever did much to improve society, education, or condescend to help much in raising a man's status.

Cotton may be king or not just as people care to think. We dont believe he is, but we do believe that the good cow is queen, and that with a gentle and royal purpose she is seeking to build up the lands that the old monarch has wasted. There is very little about the old cow. She steps slowly and kindly about her business, but she makes the business pay well. She plods along in heat or cold, wet or dry, eating what is given her, feeling interest enough in the family to look out for their daily interests under circumstances that would discourage any other living creature, and when fed and cared for as she should be, she responds in the most royal way by being crowned with a new milking pail and an extra feed of meal. The good old cow has paid off more mortgages and paid for more farms than any other known production.

Beneath Constantinople.

(Correspondence New York Tribune.)

Constantinople is notoriously a city built on ruins. Every time a new house is erected numbers of the ancient reticare brought to view. The structures of the American Public-house in this city are making an addition to their fine building, and have found a regular maze of ancient foundations at from six to eight feet below the surface of the ground. Some of the old walls contain great bricks fourteen inches square, as hard as stone, and each stamped with a name in Greek characters. It seems to be uncertain whether the name is that of a maker or that of the emperor. Some of the bricks are marked 'Koctan,' others 'Conctans.' Others yet have besides a name a date which corresponds to the year 307 A.D. The cement in which these bricks are laid is as hard as rock, and it is difficult to get them out without large specimens of quite a number of stamped bricks will be preserved at the Bible-house for the inspection of those interested. It is quite probable that a Christian church or monastery once occupied the Bible-house site, although not a single inscription has been found whereby to identify the structure. Under the foundations of this Christian edifice were found fragments of sculpture that date from heathen times. A Corinthian capital and some fragments of cornices in beautiful red marble suggest that a splendid building stood here before the Christian church was built.

The Municipal Nominations.

J. G. Frost and J. W. Dunnet for the Mayoralty.

Nominations in the Various Wards.

In accordance with the provisions of the Municipal Act, the nomination of candidates for the Mayoralty took place in the City Hall between 11 and 11 o'clock Monday, the City Clerk presiding. When the proceedings were begun the attendance of the electors was small, but soon the gathering increased in numbers until the Hall was comfortably filled.

Shortly after the hour appointed, Mr. Hugh Walker came forward, and, seconded by Mr. Horace Yeomans, nominated Mr. James W. Dunnet as Mayor for 1885.

Mr. A. N. Pringle, seconded by Mr. A. Reid, nominated Mr. John G. Frost.

Mr. G. D. Dickson was also nominated.

At 11 o'clock the nominations were declared closed by the Clerk.

Mr. Hugh Walker, as Mr. Dunnet's mover, said Mr. Dunnet and Mr. Frost would fight the battle out, as he understood Mr. Dickson would withdraw. He referred to the services which Mr. Dunnet had rendered to the position of the candidates towards the Scott Act. He thought the Scott Act should stand upon its merits and was glad neither had been led to drag it into the municipal election. He then referred to the satisfactory and efficient manner in which Mr. Dunnet had occupied the chair and his liberality in donating his salary as Mayor to the Hospital fund.

Mr. Dunnet said he felt very much like leaving the matter in the hands of the voters without a speech. Last year he asked them to take him on trust; now it was for them to say whether he had filled the office honorably. He had, and they had no fault to find, he would think they were discriminating against him as they had given on his predecessors two year terms. He opposed the built to find fault with his conduct in the Mayor's chair for the past year. He referred to the benefits the city had derived from the visit of the deputation to Montreal in the matter of new railway train service and thought the greatest amount of benefit would be derived in the spring when the link to Eldorado was completed. He had been on jobbery in the Council during the past year, their record might not have been flowery, but it was substantial. The rate of taxation had been reduced, and as evidence that the city was not deteriorating he could say there were few vacant houses in it. He had been interviewed by the Licensed Victuallers on his attitude toward the Scott Act and had frankly announced his sentiment. He was sorry the matter had been in any way brought forward, but he would not, if elected, allow his position as Mayor to influence his actions. He would support it as a citizen, and said he would sooner wear the blue ribbon badge than the badge of the City Mayoralty, provided he had to wear the latter to the sacrifice of the former.

Ex. Alderman Jas. St. Charles said both men before them had a spotless record, but he thought it was time a stop was put to the two year term, hence his favor of Mr. Frost. He had nominated Mr. Dickson not that he wished to run, but rather to speak.

Mr. Frost said that it was the first time that political rancor and political feelings had been buried. It augured well for the future of the city. The nomination by a twenty-one Aldermen and a presiding officer was the object of the hour. In presenting himself as a candidate he merely wished an opportunity to continue his municipal career. The kind of men they wanted to conduct their affairs were those who would take a straight course and adhere to it, regardless of adverse criticism. In the discharge of his duty in the Council he had not shrunk from what he had considered his duty from fear of offending some one. He had opposed the by-law relating to the ferry, but said he had only done his duty, and asked if no questions had arisen requiring the consideration and action of the Council, and wanted to know what had been done to recover moneys paid in railway bonuses which was made possible by a recent enactment of Parliament? Nothing.

Mr. Dunnet.—Yes, there has; a deputation was sent to Toronto.

Mr. Frost.—There was an opportunity when good could have been accomplished, but the Council—not the Council, but the Mayor—failed to act. He referred briefly on the performance of duty during the year

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, JAN. 1.

Small-Pox District.

The Disease Dying Out.

HUNKERFORD, Dec. 23, 1884.

Since the last report to the INTELLIGENCER Mr. G. Vair resigned as a member of the Local Board of Health. At the meeting of the Council on last Saturday Mr. Wm. White was duly appointed to fill the vacancy.

No new cases have occurred in the municipality and there are only two cases in the hospital requiring treatment. The Sisters have left and two who have had the disease formerly are going home to-night. The other two are going into quarantine for 14 days. The houses in which it has been are now undergoing a proper disinfection and all seems to indicate that the disease has run its full course under the treatment used by the Board and Medical Health Officer. The two nurses now remaining in Stoco are taking care of those in the hospital and those in the village. The Board are using all diligence to preserve the health of the people by having the considered at all points to prevent persons coming from the infected district through the county and to Tweed or any other place. They hope by next week to be in a position to report the township clear of the malady. We are happy to inform you that the Rev. Father Fleming is now able to sit up and walk around in his own house. At the last report there was an impression made that 28 deaths was all that had taken place in the township. It should have read in the vicinity of Stoco. There have been about 40 deaths in all in the township. In our next we will be able to give a more satisfactory report. We are happy to be able to state with truth that in no case of small-pox has occurred in Mr. Gabourie's or any other place in or around Tweed, except at Rev. Father Fleming's. Deaths will occur in all of the cases of small-pox. On Saturday last, 21st, May Loretto, infant daughter of Mr. J. Quinn, merchant, died from inflammation. The child was only nine months old. Mr. and Mrs. Quinn feel keenly their loss.

On Monday, the 22nd, Robert Roy, son of Mr. Clement Arney, aged three weeks, died suddenly. The child was out with Mrs. Arney on Saturday. The parents have the kind sympathy of the villagers and friends.

We are glad to see that Mr. George Noble, who has been confined to his room for over a week, is able to be around again.

Mr. Patrick Kerwin is ill from heart disease. His case is critical, but we trust he will recover.

Exhibition of Canadian Produce.

The Liverpool Journal of Commerce of December 9th says: "A magnificent collection of roots has been forwarded to Mr. John Dyke, Canadian Government agent at this port, by the Root and Vegetable Growers' Association of Cobourg, Ontario (Canada), and is now on exhibition at Mr. J. Cuthbert's seedsman, Clayton Square. It will be remembered that in 1882 some extraordinary roots from Manitoba, including a mammoth squash weighing 313 lbs. and a red mangold weighing 73 lbs. were on exhibition at the same city. These were, we believe, the heaviest specimens on record. The roots now on exhibition are not so large, but, at the same time, they are of much better shape and quality. Accompanying these are some twenty different sorts of very fine potatoes, comprising several varieties which are apparently unknown on this side of the water, some magnificent onions, and specimens of wheat, barley, and oats. The two-rowed barley, it is stated, is one of the finest specimens seen in Liverpool for many years, and, indicative of the fertility of the soil, there are two plants of Indian corn which stand eleven feet high. There are some twenty different varieties of apples on view, thus making a most interesting display. To those interested in agriculture or the welfare of our fellow-countrymen in the Dominion the exhibition cannot fail to be of interest."

Dungannon and Faraday.

Mr. D. Kavanagh has been re-elected Reeve by acclamation. The nominees for the Council are Messrs. J. A. Ferguson, J. Gould, F. Mullett, J. C. George, R. McPhee, A. Kennedy and H. Gabel.

Christmas Tree.

[illegible] Tree [illegible] Presbyterian Church [illegible] in every respect. Music [illegible] the Superintendent, Mr. F. Sigsworth, and his teachers and scholars. The very [illegible] entertainment which they gave those present, who were not a few. The tree were beautifully decorated, and the presents were of a good quality.

Towards the close of the evening Mr. John Moore, teacher of S. S. No. 4, was called to the platform and was presented with a beautiful "ink-stand," accompanied by an address, from his pupils, to which a suitable reply was made, in which was expressed his thanks and greatfulness for the appreciation of his labors while with them.

People soon began to disperse, all seemingly pleased and profited.

Flinton.

Since the two last falls of snow we have had plenty of sleighing here and it causes livelier times and conduces to an increase of trade in general. Every one now seems to be on the qui vive.

Hauling to the rivers and streams has commenced at the lumbering camps in good earnest, and the output of timber will be considerable this season. We were visited with a cold wave during the latter part of this week. The mercury took a dip to 28 degrees below zero on the mornings of the 19th and 20th inst. Several had vegetables frozen in their cellars.

Arva Champagne and Dennis Beausoleil left on Tuesday last for Fifield, Wisconsin, to join their brothers in the lumbering operations in that State.

The Board of Health are more negligent at present than heretofore, as it now becomes a reality that the small-pox is in the Wilson family. Mrs. Andrew Wilson was stricken down with that disease on Friday last, nearly three weeks after her husband arrived from the hospital at Stoco. This family have been kept isolated during all that period and it now will require great forbidden to enter the premises.

We are informed that a case of small-pox has also broken out in the Lockwood family, some few miles east of Bridgewater, and they are at their wits end to discover how they became infected, as they had not been exposed to it, nor have they been exposed to it. Nearly all, old and young in our village and vicinity have been vaccinated and the operation seems to be successful. The festive season has now arrived, and all the young, as well as many of the old are on tiptoe.

The choir entertained, consisting of an oyster supper, vocal and instrumental music, readings, recitations, dialogues &c., all from the choicest collections, will take place at the Town Hall, Flinton, on Christmas evening, proceeds in aid of the parsonage fund.

Also an oyster supper will be held at the Methodist Church, Hazlove, on Christmas eve. Proceeds also in aid of the parsonage fund.

TRIO.

Pastoral Induction.

In accordance with previous announcements, a Council (composed of Rev. Dr. Jackson, of Kingston; Rev. Thomas Hall, Missionary Supt.; Rev. Hugh Pedley and Rev. R. Hapgood, Cobourg, and Mr. D. D. Hampton, Belleville,) met at 3 p. m. in the Congregational Church, for the purpose of examining the candidate for the Pastoral office, Rev. A. W. Maine. The Council was convened with Rev. Dr. Jackson as Moderator. After prayer by Rev. T. Hall, the Rev. Hugh Pedley was appointed Scribe. He call from the Church to Rev. A. W. Maine was then read by the Moderator, also a certificate from the Congregational Church at Economy, Nova Scotia, to Rev. A. W. Maine.

Mr. Maine then delivered his statement of belief, and the following resolution was unanimously carried:

Moved by Rev. Thos. Hall, seconded by Rev. Hugh Pedley. That this Council having heard the call to the Rev. A. W. Maine read, and also his statement of belief do sustain the call of the Church, and proceed to the Installation service.

The following programme for the evening was then arranged:

1. Introductory Services—the Moderator.
2. Statement of Congregational Principles—Rev. H. Pedley.
3. Installation Prayer—Rev. T. Hall.
4. Right hand of Fellowship—Rev. Hugh Pedley.
5. Address to the Pastor—Rev. Dr. Jackson.
6. Address to the People—Rev. T. Hall.

The meeting then closed with prayer, and adjourned until 7.30 p. m., when the members of the Church and congregation, and other friends assembled to witness the installation of their pastor elect. The programme as given above was then carried into effect.

The Rev. Hugh Pedley's address on Congregational principles was brief and to the point. The Rev. gentleman gave statistics showing that Congregationalists may well be proud of their missionary and educational work all over the world.

The Rev. Dr. Jackson, in his address to the Pastor elect, spoke of the high esteem and affection in which he was held by his former congregation in Economy, and of his own confidence in Mr. Maine's zeal, earnestness and abilities in the work of the Lord.

Rev. Thos. Hall then addressed the Church in his usual enthusiastic manner, exhorting them not to be discouraged, but to look up with a firm trust in the Head of the Church, and to rejoice always. The Christians ought even amidst trials and difficulties.

The Rev. Hugh Pedley extended the "right hand of fellowship" to the candidate, with a few fitting words of "welcome."

Throughout the service appropriate music was rendered by the choir, and during the taking up of the collection the anthem, "How Beautiful upon the Mountains" was sung. Just before the close of the service, Mr. F. W. Hawley, who is Deacon of the Congregational Church of Cobourg, and who represented that Church as a delegate, asked permission to say a few words of good cheer to the Church, which he did in an able manner, assuring them of prosperity and increase as the result of a full trust in the power and goodness of God.

The service closed with the benediction by the Pastor.

Manitoba Murders.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 25.—Intelligence has been received of a shooting affair near Golden City in which one man was killed and another wounded. Three men were proceeding from Golden City to Columbia on horses, riding in single file a little distance from one another. When about a little distance beyond Johnson's ranche, about 12 miles from Golden City, where a shot was fired by some one in the bush. The second man dropped dead, shot through the heart. The first man spurred his horse and made his escape. The third, finding his horse too slow, jumped off and ran back towards Mrs. Johnson's ranche. While doing so he received a shot in the leg, disabling him in reaching the ranche. It seems that the murderer, after shooting the first and the body of his victim, gave chase to the horses, caught them, turned them back, and took from it $4,500, and then made good his escape.

The body of a man named McIntosh has been found near Silver Creek, Man. He was probably murdered and robbed, as he was known to have $1,900 on his person when he left Beaver Creek.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

ST. JOHN'S N. F., Dec. 26.—A despatch from Harbor Grace states that the Orange demonstration passed off quietly. The procession was composed of 1,000 persons. It passed through the principal streets unmolested. The Riverhead men with their green flag held their own ground, and the Orangemen abstained from intrusion on Catholic ground. The bloody mentality of last St. Stephen's day, reinforced by a war ship and a formidable police force, effectually prevented any hostile demonstration.

Shortly after the procession passed through Pippy's Lane, the scene of last years sanguinary conflict, the Riverhead men, numbering some hundreds, followed, but Inspector Carty, with a large body of mounted infantry and police, kept a safe interval between the antagonistic parties until the Orangemen reached their hall. The city at present is tranquil.

—The Montreal Salvationists arrested a couple of weeks ago have been acquitted.

—Everything indicates that the reception to be given in Montreal to Sir John Macdonald next month will be a great success.

—A British gunboat has planted the English flag at Durnford to dispel all doubts of its being a British possession. By this means the entire country south of Delagoa bay is placed under British protection.

THE WHEEL.

Still Moves and Has its Army of Fair Admirers.

The Ball—Who Went and What They Wore—The Belle.

The Ramblers' Wheel Club of this city, which has obtained a long list of pleasant social entertainments, added still another bright chapter to its history Tuesday night. The ball at the Oddfellows' hall was a decided success.

The strides made by this organization since it was inaugurated have been remarkable. In May, 1883, there were only six wheels in the city and only about ten enthusiasts. Nothing daunted they formed a club, which proved the nucleus of the best wheel club in this part of Ontario. There are now over fifty wheels in the city and the organization has a membership of nearly a hundred, with fair prospects of their all having 'cycles in the spring.

During the past season a number of public entertainments have been given, the most brilliant being that of the 24th of May; while the most charitable was the concert which netted $103 for the Hospital Fund. The receipts of the year have been $1,278.78, but so liberal have the club been in sharing their pleasures with the public, that the treasurer's funds amount to less than $200.

The ball, as stated, was in every particular a success. The party was select and represented the elite of the city. Excellent music was furnished by the Oddfellows' orchestra under Mr. Riggs, and the fairy like forms of the fair ladies tripped lightly to an ivy under the soft lights to the swift ting scene of beauty and life to the sweet strains of music. The members of the Wheel Club were distinguished by the guests by wearing their uniforms—knickerbockers—which gave a diversity and charm to the entertainment. So deep was the interest manifested that they enjoyed right that the carefully arranged programme of thirty sets, with a number of extras, did not seem to suffice. The exodus of pleasure seekers took place at the early three o'clock, just about the time the legitimate programme was exhausted.

The committee of management, composed of Messrs. C. Bell, Hall, Campbell, W. P. Way, R. H. Fenwick, E. Corby, Geo. E. Reid, S. C. Thomson and W. H. Bigger, deserve credit for the success of the assembly.

Among the visiting wheelmen were Mr. Vidal, of Sarnia, Mr. H. O'Flynn, of Madoc, and Mr. G. Hope, of Trenton.

The ball was handsomely decorated with a festoon of evergreens around the wall, and streamers of red, white and blue attached to the gas lights and stretched to the centre. The Flags of Jack and Stars and Stripes—were tastefully draped upon the walls, while a wheel occupied each of the four corners of the room.

THAT REMINDS US

That it was hard to say who was the belle of the ball. A young lady from Napanee contested the laurels with a debutante from this city.

That the music of the orchestra was very much admired.

That Messrs. Dickens & Sanderson provided the lunch.

That all enjoyed themselves amazingly and gave due credit to the Committee.

LENNOX.

The Globe announces that "it has been discovered that during the recent provincial election in Lennox an indiscreet agent committed a corrupt act." Mr. Hawley has, therefore, abandoned the seat, being "led to take this decided step not only by his strong sense of right, but because of the enormous costs which, under the provincial law, attend the trial of an election petition."

Ah! But the facts tell a different story. So far from the corrupt act by the indiscreet agent having been discovered, Mr. Hawley admits that the whole of his majority of 43 was bought! If there had been only one corrupt act, that would not, under the Provincial law, have voided the election. The purchase of five votes out of a total of 3,000 would not do it, no, nor for that matter, the purchase of 25, or even 50. But this statute it must be shown that the election was carried absolutely by corruption. But what if Mr. Hawley confesses, and this is the first instance in the history of the Local Election law of a candidate's being driven into such a corner, at least "clearly proved to such a degree as to cast that the election is void," in other words, that such separate and individual acts of bribery as were practised in his house or by his agents
